

To whom it may concern:

Elite Events jumped in at the last minute to help our nonprofit throw together an inaugural competition at University of Tampa. In the weeks prior to our event, many of our vendors needed to be babysat, with so much going on, it was very chaotic. Thankfully Elite was the one group I could rely on to show up, do their job, and do it well. Our event had over 400 guests in attendance, and I only heard praise from everyone about the food, the presentation, and the service. Melissa and John are professional and creative, and we look forward to working with them again this year as we hope to double the size of our event. We highly recommend them, and the staff at Elite Events, they are a pleasure to work with.
